THE BANDING OF CHIMNEY SWIFTS AT CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE
By WYMAN R. GREEN
By way of introduction to this account of the banding of Swifts (Chatura pelagica) at Chattanooga we can do no better than to quote from an interesting book by Dr. Alexander Wetmore, Assistant Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. The volume is entitled "The Migrations of Birds," and is worthy of the attention of all students interested in this aspect of bird-life. He says (pages 195 and 196), "The chimney swift, found in summer throughout the eastern half of North America from Manitoba and Quebec south to the Gulf Coast, has long been an anomaly, since, though abundant in numbers, its winter home has never been located. In autumn, toward the close of their stay, the birds congregate in large flocks, which roost in certain selected chimneys, or occasionally resort to some hollow tree after the fashion of their ancestors. . . . Migrant swifts pass south to the Gulf coast, where for a time they are extremely numerous, and then disappear, to return

3 TRASH AESTHETICS

In 1976 John Russell Taylor wrote of visiting the Nuart, 'West Los Angeles home of the trash movie -- Pink Flamingos [1972] plays there at midnight every Saturday, Thundercrack [1975] every Friday, and should you happen to have missed The Texas Chainsaw Massacre [1974] or Tunnelvision [1976] or Mondo Trasho [1969] you can pick them up scattered among Orson Welles and Bette Davis and Woody Allen' (1976-77: 37). For Taylor, the trash movie, ranging as it did from Beware! The Blob (1972) to The Merchant of Four Seasons (1972), occupied 'a terrain vague, not exactly commercial, not exactly underground, not exactly pornographic, but a bit of all. There is an element of deliberate defiance about them. Some films are trash by accident; these are trash by design' (ibid.). Taylor discovered this deliberate trash in 'films that not only do not claim to be art, but resolutely claim not to be' (ibid.). They rejected not only Hollywood conventions but also the visual pleasures or intellectual demands of art cinema and the avant-garde.
